2015 Form M99 Instructions

You may be eligible to receive a tax credit for military time served in a combat zone or qualified hazardous duty area anytime in 2015.

Am I eligible?

You are eligible to receive a credit if:

- You served in a combat zone or qualified hazardous duty area anytime in 2015,
- The pay you received qualifies to be excluded as combat pay from federal gross income under Internal Revenue Code Section 112, and
- Your home of record during your months of service was Minnesota.

The credit is equal to $120 for each month of service. Partial months are counted as full months. For example, if you served one day in November, it would count as one month.

To receive a credit for prior years

The 2015 Form M99 applies only to time served in a combat zone in 2015. However, you can still receive credit for service in years prior to 2015. To receive credit for months of service:

- in 2012, file 2012 Form M99 before October 15, 2016
- in 2013, file 2013 Form M99 before October 15, 2017
- in 2014, file 2014 Form M99 before October 15, 2018

You can download these forms on our website at www.revenue.state.mn.us.

Note: The original credit for military service in a combat zone from September 11, 2001 through December 31, 2006 expired October 15, 2010.

Credits for:

- 2007 expired October 15, 2011
- 2008 expired October 15, 2012
- 2009 expired October 15, 2013
- 2010 expired October 15, 2014
- 2011 expired October 15, 2015

Individual circumstances may exist that extend the time allowed to file for these credits. If you spent additional days in a combat zone after the filing due date of the return, you can add the number of additional days plus 180 days to the initial 3½ year statute of limitations to claim the credit on Form M99.

Example: If you served in a combat zone in 2011, you had to file your 2011 Form M99 by October 15, 2015 to meet the 3½ year statute of limitations. However, starting on June 1, 2012 you spent 60 days in a combat zone. You would have an additional 240 days to claim the credit (60 days plus 180 days). Therefore, you would have until June 10, 2016 (240 days after October 15, 2015) to file 2011 Form M99.

What geographic areas are considered combat zones?

Combat zones are designated by an Executive Order from the President as areas in which the U.S. Armed Forces are engaging or have engaged in combat. There are currently three combat zones, which include the airspace above each:

- Afghanistan area. Afghanistan was designated as a combat zone beginning September 19, 2001.
- Kosovo area. Beginning Mar. 24, 1999, Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro), Albania, the Adriatic Sea and the Ionian Sea north of the 39th Parallel.
- Arabian Peninsula areas. Beginning January 17, 1991, the Persian Gulf, Red Sea, Gulf of Oman, the part of the Arabian Sea north of 10° North latitude and west of 68° East longitude, the Gulf of Aden, and the countries of Bahrain, Iraq, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates.

Public Law 104-117 designates three parts of the former Yugoslavia as a Qualified Hazardous Duty Area, to be treated as if it were a combat zone, beginning Nov. 21, 1995 -- Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia, and Macedonia.

In addition, the Department of Defense has certified these locations for combat zone tax benefits due to their direct support of military operations, beginning on the listed dates:

How to claim the credit

You must file Form M99, Credit for Military Service in a Combat Zone, and attach the required documentation to receive the credit.

If you want your paid preparer to have the authority to discuss the form with the Department of Revenue, check the box at the bottom of the form. Checking the box does not give your preparer the authority to sign any tax documents on your behalf or to represent you at audits or appeals conferences. For these types of authorities, you must file a power of attorney.
